SERIES SPEED COMPARISON

CIARON'S TRACK NOTES

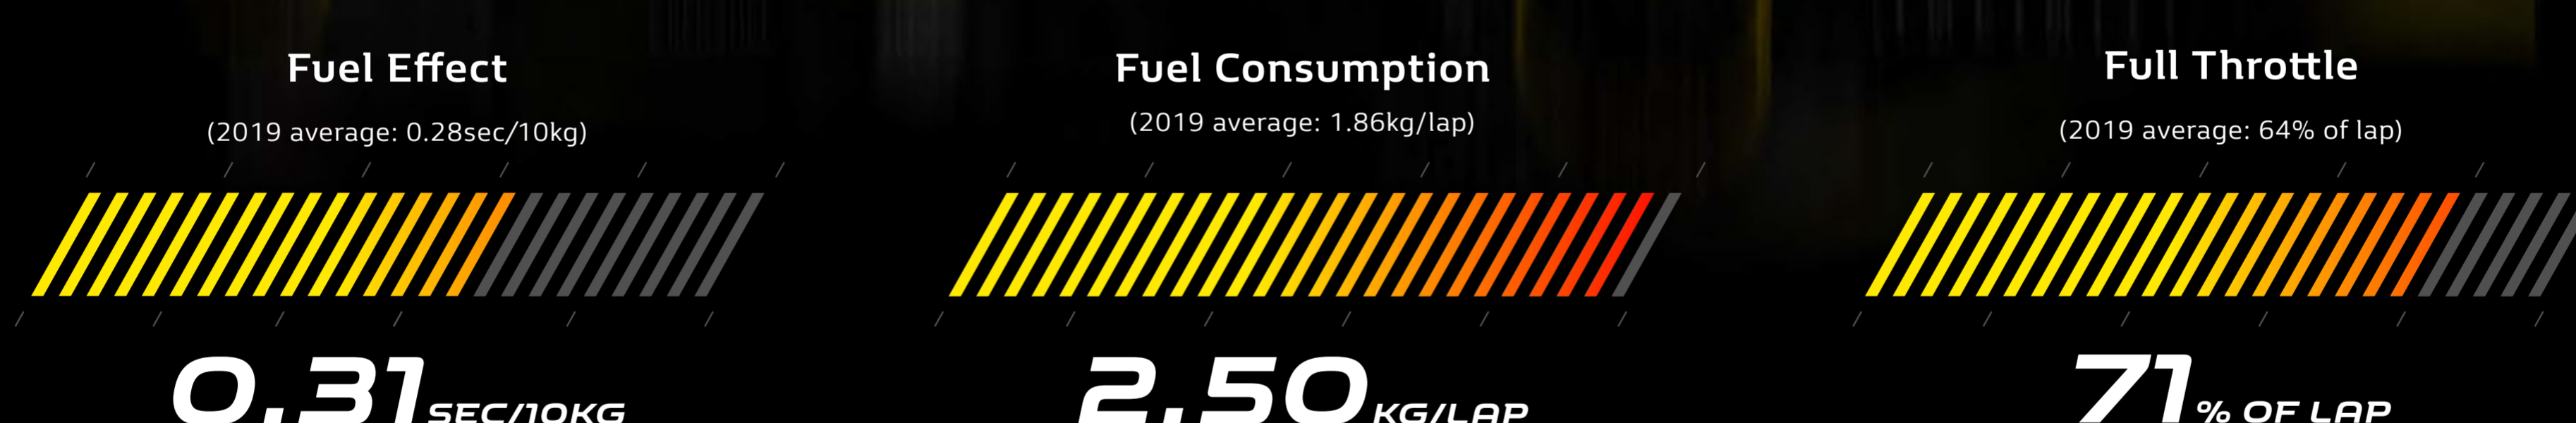

The compromise between higher and lower downforce here is more difficult than normal. Higher downforce will make the car quicker in the first and last corners, which are slow, and in the middle sector, which has a series of mainly medium and high speed corners. However, more so than at most circuits, the penalty in straight line speed can leave the car vulnerable to being overtaken on the run out of the first corner, through Eau Rouge and up to Turn 5 at the top of the hill. The chicane at Turns 18/19 is another overtaking possibility, although this is more difficult as there is no DRS zone leading up to it.
